Thailand Conventions

Explore Thailand and select from a variety of convention destinations to suit your preference

THAILAND

is now one of ASIA's top four and ASEAN's top destination for conferences & conventions.

In recent years, the country's infrastructure for conventions has been further developed with improved capabilities, accessibility and convenience to keep up with its thriving economy and its expanding connection with the vibrant Asian region. The many new and modern venues both in Bangkok and other secondary cities, combined with its enhanced and second to none services, create tailored experiences and success for your events.

THAILAND is home to numerous settings: cosmopolitan city, historic sites, island and mountainous environment and much more. Bangkok, Pattaya, Chiang Mai, and Phuket are among Asia's preferred cities for meetings. Each enjoys excellent accessibility from overseas destinations and has all the necessary support services for business and leisure.

All of these city destinations offer plentiful selection of venues, hotels, facilities and services in unique and attractive environment.

Bangkok is a regional hub with convenient flight connection with major destinations around the globe. It's the heart of modern Thailand, rich in culture, albeit dynamic as a business nexus of gleaming skyscrapers, state-of-the-art amenities, a wide selection of world-class venues, accommodation and world-renowned services, thus, the city's high profile and accumulated hands-on experiences in hosting international events. Bangkok also provides easy access to other meeting destinations of the country, such as Pattaya, Chiang Mai and Phuket.

THAILAND Conventions

THAILAND offers a variety of attractive destinations to meet your specific preference: cosmopolitan city, historic site, oceanic and mountainous setting.

Pattaya, less than 2 hours' drive from Bangkok International Airport, is one of Southeast Asia's great beach destinations. Lying close to Thailand's major economic development zone, Pattaya's numerous hotels, golf courses, spas, restaurants and attractions cater to business and professional needs. The city boasts a world-class venue, overlooking the Gulf of Thailand, with a profile of serving international events. Its convenience of access is enhanced by 5-star hotels and other categories of accommodation, offering no less than 5,000 rooms combined.

If you are looking for a venue with mountainous view to provide a relaxing and inspiring convention setting, Chiang Mai, the major city in northern Thailand, is a superb choice that possesses all required infrastructure and services. The city's newly-opened international convention center, set against the mountainous backdrop and only 1 kilometer from the city center, is ready and capable of hosting large scale events.

A vast array of hotels and resorts are of high standard and recreation options, especially ecological and cultural sites, are excellent. Within one hour flight from Bangkok and with direct flights linking some major cities in Asia, Chiang Mai is growing into a regional economic hub, boosting prospect of professional development, while retaining its unique Lanna cultural heritage.

But if you yearn for a vibrant tropical oceanic setting, Phuket, in southern Thailand, remains one of the best destinations. Its well-developed infrastructure includes all of the world's leading hotel brands, providing a bounty of superb convention facilities. Its air transport is extensive, with one hour's flight to and from Bangkok, two hours to and from Chiang Mai, and direct flights with some major cities in Asia, making the island a convenient destination for meetings. Like Chiang Mai, it is a top ten city destination for meetings in ASEAN region. Building upon its global travel destination status, Phuket is well-equipped with services catering to international needs and requirements, while offering flavor of Sino-Portuguese culture rooted in the history of the city establishment.

Thailand CONNECT TCEB

www.BusinessEventsThailand.com